

Naked, wrinkled and ugly has never before been so beautiful.

Glioblastoma is the most common and most aggressive type of primary brain tumor – and it kills almost everyone who gets it.

Animal research is vital to efforts to understand this dreadful cancer and to discover ways to improve the odds of survival.

For the doctors and their patients battling against time, this mouse is a sight to behold.

Animal Research Saves Lives.

AMP

AMERICANS FOR MEDICAL PROGRESS

444 N. Capitol St. NW, Suite 417, Washington, DC 20001
202-624-8810 • www.amprogress.org

